"HANDS ACROSS THE BORDER"

The towns of Coult and Sweet Grass, on the Alberta and Montana border south of Lethbridge, held a "hands across the border" celebration Tuesday, which was participated in by about five hundred citizens of the two countries. Mayor Hardie of Lethbridge took part and the mayor of Great Falls, who had been invited, sent his regrets on account of a previous engagement, but assured the gathering of his sympathy with the spirit of the occasion. Mutual welcomes were extended from both sides of the line, after which national boundaries were ignored by the crowd for the time being. The principal speakers of the occasion were D. H. Elton, K.C., of Lethbridge and Representative
W. M. Black of Toole county, Montana.

REGULATING FLYING

The United States is the only civilized country that is without laws to govern the operation of aircraft for commercial purposes. It is the only country which does not rigidly inspect the airworthiness of the various machines which fly for profit or pleasure.

Prevent blowouts by avoiding severe jolts and maintaining full air pressure.

Music by the Ober Orchestra

E. W. BEATTY.

Edward Wentworth Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was born at Thorold, Ontario, in 1876.
He moved to Toronto with his parents when he was ten years of age. He studied in Toronto at the Model School, Upper Canada College, Harbord Street Collegiate Institute, Osgoode Hall, and the University of Toronto. Graduating from the University he began to study law with the firm of McCarthy at Toronto in 1898. In 1901, Mr. Beatty entered the service of the C.P.R. as assistant to the General Counsel; in July, 1905, he became Assistant Solicitor, in 1910, he was General Solicitor, in 1914, he became Chief Counsel and Vice-President. He succeeded Lord Shaughnessy as President of the C.P.R. in 1918. Mr. Beatty takes a great interest in Canadian education, and in addition to being one of the governors of McGill University, is Chancellor of Queen's University at Kingston. He takes a prominent part in many public movements, such as the Navy League.

Mr. Beatty is the first Canadian-born president of the C.P.R. During his entire career he has been noted for his sound knowledge of human affairs. He is beloved by those who are associated with him, and by those who work under him. In every respect he is a worthy successor of the great men who preceded him, as president of the C.P.R.

INFLUENCE AND ATMOSPHERE

The theme Sunday morning at the Union Church was "Influence and the Atmosphere Man Carries." "Nature's
forces carry their atmosphere," said the minister. The sun gives forth light unquenchable, coals throw off heat; violets are larger in influence than bulk. Man also has his atmosphere. He is a force-bearer and a force producer. He journeys forward exhaling influences. Business men understand this principle; those skilled in promoting great enterprises bring men to be impressed into a room and create an atmosphere around them. Every personality is the centre of out-reaching influences.
If light is in him he shines; if darkness rules he shades. If his heart glows with love he warms; if frozen with selfishness he chills. If corrupt he poisons; if pure-hearted he cleanses.
Though the sun be a wonder in its passage through the sky the human heart in its journey through this world is far more wonderful, because it can feel, love, sympathize, and the sun cannot do this.

"A man is judged by his influence —that subtle atmosphere which he carries. Even from a human standpoint Christ has influenced more lives than any other person. In Him is light not darkness; love not hate, greatness not littleness. All who come under his influence grow mentally, morally and spiritually. There is no greater force in the world today than that of Christ. It is this influence that is working to push back darkness, that light may have place;
that is ushering in the brotherhood of man and teaching the fatherhood of God. Its influence is for pure living, which the world at this time so much needs, but so little heeds. Christ gives the world health, happiness, and the chance of being really useful in a great task."

IT'S YOU

If you want to live in the kind of a town,
Like the kind of a town you like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike;
For you'll only find what you've left behind,
There's nothing that's really new,
It's a knock at yourself, when you knock your town—
For it isn't your town—it's YOU!
Real towns are not made by men afraid
That somebody else gets ahead;
If everyone works, and nobody shirks,
You can raise a town from the dead.
And if, while YOU make, your personal stake,
Your neighbor should make one too,
Then your town would be, what you want it to be,
For it isn't your town—it's YOU!

WONDERFUL

The Advocate Man Hears Concert By Wireless.

A concert at San Jose, California,
on Saturday night afforded enjoyment to a Victoria audience of wireless operators at Gonzales Hill station and amateurs throughout the city. The music was that of a radiophone concert in the California town more than 500 miles away. It was sent out into the ether by wireless telephone and was heard here as distinctly and as free of interruption as though coming from the next room. "It was most entertaining," remarked the operator at Gonzales. "We could hear everything, even pick out the words. The last number was 'Song Without Words,' and very nice it was, too."

The foregoing is a despatch from Victoria, which was considered to be of such exceptional importance as to receive a prominent front-page position in The Calgary Albertan on Monday morning. But the Victoria people did not have a monopoly on this wonderful and novel entertainment, for Mr. Nelson, of The Advocate, who was spending the week-end in High River, was one of a small party who were the favored guests of Mr. Grant wireless expert, at the radio station in connection with the aerodrome in High River, and certainly enjoyed the novel experience of hearing the same concert as described in the above despatch. Besides the concert mentioned above, the party at High River heard the wireless telephone conversations between the mainland and California and the station at the Catalina Islands, and the "Hells" of the lady operators at these points was as plainly heard as is the usual answer from our young friends at the local central. One of the parties in the conversation heard was very much concerned as to a friend who he repeatedly called Maggie. To the layman it is altogether marvellous. Vulcan is particularly favoured in this connection, for one night a week ago Messrs. Jones and Ober had a like experience at High River.

Municipality Will Settle for Injury and Damage

Mr. A. E. Gilmore will receive consideration for injuries suffered, and Constable Reid will be compensated for damage to his auto, both the result of an accident caused by a defective culvert. We understand that the officers of the municipality responsible have readily accepted their responsibility and the claims for consideration have not been excessive, making a settlement easy. This is good business for all concerned. All is well that ends well, but it is a marvel that results from such an experience were not worse. The fact is that Mr. Gilmore has suffered severely, and that he escaped being killed,
and that the other occupant of the car were entirely uninjured, is the marvel.

W. Yanosik was, on the complaint of

MAGISTRATE AT LETHBRIDGE

The issue of the Alberta Gazette of August 31, just to hand, announces the appointment of Delmar Hodgkins as travelling police magistrate. Mr.
Hodgkins was connected with the liquor squad of the attorney-general's department. The appointment is dated July 27, and, by the date, has been made by ex-Attorney-General Boyle.
Hodgkins' appointment when first intimated, was the cause of considerable agitation and adverse comment, but in spite of this it would appear that it has been confirmed. Whether the appointment of Mr. Hodgkins as travelling magistrate has reference to the position in Lethbridge, rendered vacant by the resignation of former magistrate Major Burrell, is not definitely known.

COMMUNITY LOSS

Unemployed in England recently rioted and started a fire which destroyed $5,000,000 worth of lumber.
This simply means that everybody in England is $5,000,000 poorer. The people of the country, in the long run will have to replace that lumber.—

SHOWER

Friends Bring Many Gifts to the Newlyweds

Twenty or more of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. William Scott assembled at the home of Mrs. Wellington, on Tuesday evening, and produced a shower that would make even Hatfield envious. There were gifts galore, valuable and useful, and these were an expression of real esteem for a popular couple who are commencing a new home in their home town. The gift of a roll of towelling provided a feature of the event. Each guest was given the task of hemming a towel and sewing their initials on same. A dainty supper was served by Mrs.
Wellington, who was assisted by Mrs.
Eshom and Mrs. McAlpine. Music and dancing followed supper, and the merry party dispersed at an early hour in the morning.

23 pupils enrolled at the opening;
Grades 2 and 3, Miss G. Murphy, 30 pupils; Grades 3 and 4, Miss L. Car-

On Friday evening last, about twenty of Vulcan's dance enthusiasts journeyed to Brant to attend the big dance held at that point. The majority owing to the bad weather, travelled by train, although several did go by car. The dance was an exceptionally good one and although held in Brant, was a Vulcan dance as was proved by the small number of Brant people who turned out. During the evening and getting along towards train time, one of our fair young ladies was heard to remark that "She wished the train would be two hours late and her wish was gratified, for the train was two hours late with three hours added on. Nevertheless they all agreed that the long wait which they had was well worth the good time. We hope that Vulcan will be as well represented at the next dance which we expect will be held on September 16.

You've Gotta Keep On Tellin' 'Em.

Your goods may be real marvels of merchandising values. You may be back to pre-war prices. But you must let your logical buyers know it in order to make the sales you hope for. The present unusual conditions demand a persistency in advertising. To sell 'em you must tell 'em in these days of close buying and keen competition. Right now, business people in every line want more sales—from the largest corporation to the smaller retailer. The newspaper is the best medium of communication between the buyer and the seller. The Advocate is your paper.

VULCAN, ALBERTA

SLAVERY DAYS

Just when the old days of slavery had been almost forgotten, except when there is an occasional visit of troupes playing "Uncle Tom's Cabin" there comes an incident which takes us back to the time before the American civil war. In it there are features which are similar to the practices which history describes and the play demonstrates. The scene has shifted from the South and the locale of the modern mart of men is the great city of Boston, and the men concerned are white, not negroes. Fifty men were placed upon the auction block and their services offered to the highest bidder, an auctioneer extolling the merits of each individual as they appeared on the open square for examination, and the men were stripped of clothing to the waist so that bidders might judge of their fitness for work. The sale was not considered to be a success. The unusual event was a development of the unemployment situation and was conducted by a philanthropist to demonstrate that even where poverty is rampant by philanthropy there are many men who are willing to work who suffer on account of what are commonly called hard times. In this latter respect the sale might be termed a success, for the event was of such an unusual character that publicity will be given to it throughout the world. Whether it can be justified as a proper proceeding is another question.

Uncle Abimelech Bogardus, of Preakness, says: "I ain't takin' much stock in this here disarmament conference so long as folks will pay the prices they charge to see only two fella's fight."

The New York Tribune reports a five thousand dollar robbery in that city in which a woman figured very prominently, and if our guess is right, the woman got most of the money. Another proof of woman keeping pace with man.

The coming of snow last week may be unseasonable, but it is not altogether unwelcome, and instead of doing harm will perform much good. This country requires much moisture and we cannot have too much this fall to insure good crops for 1922.

Two grand dukes are rivals for the throne of the former czar of Russia, and both predict possession after Lenin has been deposed and Bolshevism has passed. Who knows but by that time the United Farmers will have a say as to by whom and how Russia will be governed.

Tenants in one of the apartment houses in one of our great cities are required to sign a lease which contains an anti-jazz clause, and this prevents the keeping or use of gramophones or phonographs, and the same lease prohibits the keeping of any cat, dog, or parrot. The circumscribed city dweller may well envy the freedom of the resident in a country town, where the neighbor's chickens roost upon your kitchen steps, and cows and things roam about at will, and where little Mary, the musical genius of the community, does her practicing without limitations. No city life for us, by heck; give us freedom!

Calgary Liberals in session desire very strongly an alliance between Farmers, Labor and Liberals. The opinion expressed by one speaker was that unless such an alliance was formed the Meighen government could be returned to power, which would be a calamity. To use the words of this modest speaker the Liberals alone can save Canada from ruin.

The Canadian railways have announced a reduction of prices in their dining cars. At that, there will be no great saving to most of us. To both travel and eat still taxes the average fellow to the limit, and if we go anywhere we will still have to be content to take a lunch along.

Sir James Aikins, president of the Canadian Bar Association has given $50,000 to the organization to be used for its upbuilding. To those who have ever been required to pay legal fees and costs there would seem to be truth in the saying, "them as has, gets."

The recent provincial election divulged the fact that a great many who were active in the campaign did not have a vote—they were not naturalized. The U.F.A. is advising that all residents who can qualify should become naturalized. This is good advice and quite right.

All Canada needs is people on the land is what a prominent labor M.P. from England has been telling audiences in the east. In the broad sense, this is more or less correct, but for the last year or two, in southern Alberta, it is not humans that have been required so much as humidity.

Coste retires from the presidency of the gas company and Burns is mentioned as his successor. Burns is an appropriate name for a gas company. —Lethbridge Herald. The retirement of Coste from the presidency does not seem to have lessened the price to the consumer.

The papers here and everywhere are telling who will and who will not be the candidate in the coming Dominion election. We doubt their hope in this connection. The people are likely to assert their right to a say in the matter. The disposition to do this has been very apparent in recent events. The fixing by the party fixers is getting harder to fix every day.

The approach of the federal elections, and the anticipated activities in connection therewith, brings to the mind of the editor the experiences on long ago in old Ontario, and the enthusiasm of one of the ardent workers which was always demonstrated by his insistent demand that "We must have meetin's—we must have meetin's."

No more married women will be engaged by the Edmonton School Board, and those now drawing salary will have to make way for single women if the latter are available. Married teachers now on the staff will be held provisionally until the year. It is said to be a poor rule that will not work both ways, and it has been suggested that all male school teachers should be required to get married.

The question of the natural resources will again be a more or less important issue in the coming election. The West made a poor bargain in respect to the natural resources with the Laurier government when Alberta and Saskatchewan became provinces, and have ever since been blaming almost everybody else for the condition which has followed. The West needs these assets, and they belong to the West, and they will eventually be given to the West.

The Congregational church in Manchester has been advertising for an "up-to-date and livewire" pastor at a salary of five thousand a year. The effectiveness of advertising has been demonstrated and a great many preachers have made application and have been given a try-out by the congregation but the only one of the number which seemed to meet requirements answered the call to another city, where an automobile was added to the salary and a free house. This fellow is truly "up-to-date."

There is certain to be one straight Liberal in the field in Alberta and that will be Hon. Frank Oliver in Edmonton. There is also talk that Hon. Duncan Marshall may be a Liberal candidate for Olds.

It is stated the government will contest almost all Alberta seats even though the prospects are not bright.

PRESS COMMENT

Owen Sound Sun: The children who started back to school again on Thursday after their long vacation seem to be of very different opinions as to whether they are glad to be starting again or not. One small boy when asked his opinion on the subject pondered long and carefully and then after several minutes during which time he seemed to be searching the deepest recesses of his brain, the answer came in three words "I don't know." This seems to be the opinion of quite a few youngsters who no doubt, have not yet become accustomed to school, but there are other opinions. A little girl of about twelve said she just loved going back "Why, we have Miss K— now, you know and she's just lovely. She gives us easy work and she smiles every time she speaks to us and she's put away the strap and says she's not going to bring it out unless she really has to." The opinion of boys of the same age in whose minds evidently linger pleasant memories of the 'the ol' swimmin' hole, camping out and the general freedom that prevails during the summer holidays, seems to be entirely different. The other day I heard a small boy, who usually looks rather untidy during the summer holidays say in a very resentful tone, "Aw, gee, no, I don't like goin' back to school. She'll make us comb our hair and clean our boots and a whole lot of other stuff. Aw, you don't need to tell me. They're all the same. Why last year—" And then he started in on a vivid description of what "she" who very evidently was the teacher, had made him do last year in the way of what he considered unnecessary cleanliness. These are three very different opinions, but I think the first one is the most general. The children as a rule don't really know whether they are glad to be going back to school or not until they have been there several weeks. It very largely depends upon the teacher. Children's minds are always very prone to hero, or heroine worship and if they really like a teacher they put her up on a pedestal and think of her as a superior being, a creature whose smile of commendation makes the sun shine and whose frown casts one down into the depths of despair. It is a great responsibility that teacher's share with parents, that of a child's happiness.

The Guardian: The American immigrant is causing his hosts some very uneasy hours, and every fact concerning him is being scrutinized closely to discover if possible just how he ought to be dealt with. One fact develops, that in the past twenty-eight years 7,000,000 American immigrants have returned to their home lands, and the average amount which each immigrant takes home with him is estimated at 2,000, which would mean a total of $14,000,000,000, which had been earned on this continent and taken back to Europe to be spent. But despite this return the influx is still very great, and 80 per cent. of all those who come to America come on tickets prepaid by friends or relatives here. And in many cases the men who return to Europe are skilled mechanics while those who arrive in America are unskilled. This means that on this continent we are training men by the tens of thousands to teach Europe how to compete industrially with us, and the question is slowly emerging, whether it is wise to treat in exactly the same way the man who comes to this country merely to make money with which to return to the old country and the man who comes to this country to make it his home. The latter is really a citizen, the former a bird of passage.

Youth's Companion: It was a mild day in mid-summer. The outside air was crisp and pleasantly cool; but in the big bank building the steam radiators filled every room with an oppressive heat, a heavy languid, hot-house atmosphere, singularly ill-adapted for hardy human plants. A teller "Why on earth have you got your steam up on a day like this?" To which the teller answered irritably, "It's wasteful, and it's disagreeable, and it's unhealthy, but the fact of the matter is that the young women who work here wear practically no clothing, and they are always complaining of the cold." It is surely time for business women to adopt a business dress. Flimsiness of the least desirable quality in the costume of a clerk or a stenographer; yet it is to flimsiness she clings with a pathetic perversion of taste. Sheer blouses of pink and blue, turndown collars displaying a bony structure interesting only to the anatomist; short sleeves, bracelets and a string of artificial pearls—increasingly cheap imitations of incredibly costly jewels. Such an attire may be charming and tasteful sometimes and somewhere (that much can be conceded to its popularity); but its appropriate setting is manifestly not an office or a bank. A dozen years ago a distinguished French writer, M. Marcel Provost, pleaded with his country women to adopt a "complete dress," which would be in accord with their vocations, and which would represent at once a triumph of taste and a triumph of reason. That such a reform is within the possibilities of life was proved in 1917, when American women workers wore uniforms that proclaimed their respective duties. The extreme becomingness of those costumes was probably a minor consideration as it is with the costume of a nurse.

Los Angeles Times: A resolution has been presented asking the Commissioner of Indian Affairs to place the ban upon the sun, war, ghost and other tribal dances of the Sioux. How about those other Indians who are dancing the shimmy, the toddle, the bearcat, the wiggle-waggle and other voluptuous convolutions? Are they to be permitted to play their indiscretions unhampered while the noble red man is restrained from exercising his tribal rights and prerogatives? Is there no justice left?

Minneapolis News: Speed the day! Modesty is once more in fashion. The pendulum has swung as far to the radical extreme as it could very well go, and now it is swinging back to the good, old-fashioned, wholesome things. The world is surfeited with the bizarre, and in sheer disgust is reacting to saner pleasures. For months movie directors have been announcing that the "vamp" with all her hectic, poster effects, was passing. The death knell of jazz has been rung, and dress has begun to show an inclination to go away back to the models made immortal by Godey's Lady Book. Next to the accomplishment of world peace and the reduction of taxes, this is as hopeful a sign of a return to normal as we could have.

SCHOOL FAIRS SAVE COMMUNITY

Every Encouragement Should Be Given by Citizens Generally in Aiding Such Fairs

"A good fair serves its community by encouraging agricultural progress, by advertising its advantages and by satisfying the human longing for recreation. If it meets this three-fold purpose it will pay its way."—The Country Gentleman.

The agricultural shows for this section of the province are over for another year. It is to be hoped that exhibitors have benefited by this cheap form of advertising, for there is perhaps no more effective or cheaper way for the farmer to advertise his seed grain or his livestock than through the medium of the fair. It too is a means of acquiring an education in the various agricultural pursuits, by seeing what others are doing and by learning how best to choose, arrange and present farm produce, garden truck, and household creation for exhibit. Every exhibitor should avail him or herself of the privilege of questioning the judge as to his reason for placing this or that entry above or below another and the amateur can often learn a great deal from the more experienced competitor. If the fair serves this purpose it goes far toward justifying its existence.

School Fairs are to the boys and girls what the larger fairs are to the adults. The School Fair is a great factor in improving the farm production and farm industry; it is very effective in helping the teacher to realize the importance of teaching agriculture in the public school; it makes our rural people better and happier. The School Fair in fact, gives the finishing touch to the work of agricultural teaching, and if we are to expect any progress along this line of improving our agricultural shows we must look to the coming members of society and there is nothing more natural for the boy or girl than to continue his or her efforts in the interests of the School Fair to the larger, more extensive and more profitable Agricultural Exhibition.

The School Fair period is approaching and by this time the organization should be complete—prize lists published and circulated and programmes arranged. Teachers can spend the periods allotted for agricultural study no more profitably than by perfecting the school exhibits, discussing the aims of the fair and the methods of making an exhibit show to the best advantage. The Fair affords an excellent opportunity for instilling in the mind of the boy or girl the absolute necessity of fair play; and for improving the school spirit by practicing school yells, choruses, drills and in fitting the pupils to take part in every eligible event on the sports' program. Parents are urged to co-operate in every detail.

The following points might well be observed in the exhibiting of grains and vegetables:

Sheaves—Have straw full length, remove loose leaves, arrange heads neatly, trim off bottoms and bind securely.

Grain—Clean thoroughly and remove all foreign seeds.

Mangels—Select most uniform in size and shape.

Corn—Select well-matured ears with well-filled and straight rows.

Carrots—Medium size, smooth, free from sunburn, uniform in size and color and shape.

Beets—Medium size, smooth, dark colored and uniform.

Parsnips—Large, free from root-lets, uniform.

Potatoes—Even in size, smooth, shallow eyes and free from scab.

Note: Avoid extra large carrots, beets and potatoes as these are seldom most suitable for table use. The individuals in a collection should be as well-matched as possible.

BATHING AS A CURE FOR T.B.

A Bath Every Day Is Claimed To Be Best Aid to Recovery From Dreaded Disease

The Englishman's insistence on his morning splash, even if he has to carry his tub about with him, and the American's determination to have a bathroom in his home regardless of cost are justified at last. A daily bath is considered either a luxury or waste of time by enough people and nations to make Sir James Crichton-Brown's statement at a conference of sanitary inspectors in England a contribution to the science of health. "If every one took a daily bath, hot or cold," he said, "tuberculosis would virtually disappear from the world." He says we have a long way to go to attain a proper standard of personal cleanliness. He would legislate the great unwashed out of existence by having a tub in every home, even if the state had to supply it.

There is much in this suggestion, for there are still people, even in America and England, who do not know the value, not to say the joy, of a daily scrub. That the flesh is weakened by bathing is a superstition that persists in too many homes. Physicians could dispel such beliefs if they would, but perhaps they fear to insult their patients even when they know the advice is needed.

Less use of the brakes lowers the bill for tires, gasoline and repairs.

FARMERS EXPECT TO CARRY PROVINCE

The Government May Contest All Alberta Seats—Election Will Likely Be Held Dec. 16.

"Crerar will be the next premier of Canada," appears to be the sentiment of many western people. The general feeling is that the West was entitled to redistribution of seats before an election was held, but Premier Meighen was forced to go to the country by the demands of the opposition and also by the fact of the enormous vote cast against the government in the Medicine Hat bye-election.

Throughout the province the united farmers are actively getting their organization in shape and they will have candidates in every rural riding and will no doubt carry the province by a majority. In Lethbridge, the present member, Mr. Buchanan has decided to retire and it is said that L. H. Jelliff will be the farmer candidate and W. S. Ball the government candidate.

In Macleod constituency the name of Mrs. Louise McKinney is mentioned as the farmer candidate, with Mr. Coote of Cayley and G. S. Ferris of Nanton also in the running. Hugh M. Shaw, the present member for Macleod, will in all probability carry the Meighen standard in Macleod riding.

H. H. Halliday, the member for Bow Valley, is not now a resident of Alberta and will not seek election there and so far no names have been presented by either of the parties.

In West Calgary it is said R. B. Bennett will be the government candidate, with W. M. Davidson opposing him as an Independent.

It is said that Dr. Clark may have opposition in obtaining the farmer nomination in Red Deer for only actual members of the U.F.A. will be selected as standard-bearers. For this reason Dr. Clark may not get the nomination.

WHY THE PRAIRIES ARE VOID OF TREES

Once Heavily Timbered; Fires Believed to Have Caused Present State of Timber Scarcity

It is impossible to say what the exact causes are which operating for centuries, have produced this result (lack of trees on the prairie) but it is generally thought by those who have given some attention to the subject, that a large part of what is now prairie was not originally so; in fact there is direct evidence to show that at least some districts which are now treeless were originally well timbered.

Undoubtedly the chief agency which little by little, has caused the prairies to encroach on the timbered area is the frequently recurring prairie fire. It is well known to those familiar with the country that, if fires are kept out of a district for a number of years, small bluffs of poplar spring up all around the sloughs and low places, which if not disturbed gradually extend till eventually a formerly treeless district becomes well timbered.

From this it would seem that had fires not been so prevalent in the past, the timbered areas would be much more extensive than they are at present. The fact still remains, however, that there are immense tracts of land absolutely treeless which can only be utilized to their fullest advantages after a certain measure of protection is afforded by the presence of belts or plantations of trees.—Norman M. Ross, Dominion Forest Nursery Station, Indian Head Sask.

ALBERTA TIMBER WAS IN DANGER

Recent Snowfall Came Just in Time to Prevent Serious Loss.

The disastrous fires which raged recently in the Crow's Nest district have been effectively checked by the snowfall of a few days ago.

The conflagration was fast approaching the Alberta border according to reports received at Coleman, when the snow arrived to save the situation.

At one time many of the Crow's Nest towns were in serious danger of being wiped out. It was feared districts as far east as Blairmore would suffer if the flames were not checked.

No correct estimate is yet available as to how much damage has been done by the fire, but the McLaren Lumber Company were losers to the extent of $50,000 in camps and camp equipment, aside from the great area of timber burned.

LIFE AND WEALTH

Years ago John Ruskin said: "There is no wealth but life." He was right. Gold is wealth only as there are men who can use it. Crops are wealth only as there are men to purchase and consume them. Oil and minerals in a wilderness are not wealth. The nation is richest whose people have the largest earning, consuming, and investing power.

That line of Ruskin's should be written above the door of every factory, every bank, and every chancellery in the world. In so far as our problems are approached in its spirit, we shall find permanent solutions. It is one principle of economics which is universally true and understandable. There is no wealth but life.

BALLANTYNE QUILTS; OTHERS TO FOLLOW

Many Changes to Take Place in the Meighen Government Before Dominion Elections.

There are persistent rumors that several cabinet ministers will resign shortly. In the case of Mr. Ballantyne, minister of marine, it is his intention to retire from public life.

It is a usual custom for ministers to place their resignations in the premier's hands prior to an election, so the action of Mr. Ballantyne and others in doing so is not taken as an indication of anything out of the ordinary in political circles.

Sir George Foster, member for North Toronto, is reported to be retiring and it is thought Sir Henry Drayton may contest this seat at the coming elections.

REID HILL NEWS

The regular meeting of the Reid Hill Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. G. McKay. Fourteen members were present. It was decided to work for a community library. Each member is to donate one book, or as many as possible. One book will entitle anyone to a membership, whether an Institute member or not. A travelling library will also be sent from the extension department of the University of Alberta. The books will be in charge of the secretary, Mrs. C. H. Smith.

ENSIGN NEWS

Mr. John Williams, an old settler in the Ensign district and a highly respected citizen died after a lingering illness at his home on Saturday, Sept. 3.

Mr. Williams and family come to Alberta from Ireland and first resided in the High River district at the south end of the lake and from there moved to the Ensign district where he homesteaded. During their residence in Alberta Mr. Williams and family have always assisted in the development of everything pertaining to the betterment of rural life and the community extends to Mrs. Williams and family their sympathy.

Mr. Hays conducted service at Ensign Sunday afternoon.

Rev. W. B. Mahon and wife were down from Trochu, attending the funeral of Mr. J. Williams.

Threshing which was in full swing is temporarily delayed owing to the snow storm.

Mrs. Zemans of Calgary, has accepted the position of teacher at the Ensign school which will open Monday Sept. 19.

What might have been a serious accident was narrowly averted on Thursday evening last when E. E. Southgate was repairing his gasoline lamp in a room lighted by a coal oil lamp. Spraying gasoline ignited and caught Mr. Southgate in flames, seriously burning him on the face and hands before he was able to smother the fire in a bed comforter and make his exit from the burning house through a bedroom window. Mrs. Southgate and family escaped through the rear door, calling for aid and neighbors with fire extinguishers soon gained control of the fire but not before considerable damage had been done. Mr. Southgate will be a week under doctors' care.

N. Young, besides being mayor of Ensign, is now Chief of the fire brigade.

The Misses Brims who have been summering at Ensign have returned to their schools in Calgary.

Painters and decorators have improved the interior of the school, also the residence of R. J. Adams.

EMPLOYERS IN COURT

Nine business firms in Calgary were represented in police court last Thursday before Magistrate Sanders charged with failing to pay their assessments under the Workmen's Compensation Act. The cases were all remanded, with the understanding that the defendants pay the levies before the cases are called again. The defendants were also ordered to pay the costs of the court.

LIZZIE

(J. P. in Calgary Herald)

Tin Lizzie may be old, sir, And her innards streaked with rust, But, by gad, when on the road, sir, She'll get you there, or bust.

Funny about the old tin Lizzie, isn't it? Above all the useful contraptions devised by the mind of man, old tin Lizzie takes the "bun".

It doesn't matter at what stage of the game of life Lizzie has arrived. She is always "pert" and right up on her toes to do good to those who hate her, and to love those good and kind to her.

Tin Lizzie is no beauty—she doesn't think she is, neither does she want to be. She is ever willing to plod along and do the best she can for her own folks, and to assist her detractors out of a hole whenever they get into one—which is quite frequent.

White axed, and tennis booted aristocrats sneer at Liz and jostle her on the road with haughty toots or haughty tooters but Lizzie, democratic to her snorting combustion exhaust, politely retards her progress and permits them free access to the road ahead of her, knowing or grinning a mere "so long"; because, sooner or later they will be calling on Liz to rope them out of a mud-hole. That's Liz—a good-natured, contented old cuss—a neglected old reliable—the product of some unknown dreamer's dream.—Calgary Herald.

THE RURAL HOME

The rural home is rapidly coming into its own. There are, however, a few more lessons to learn and a few more encumbrances to be discarded. From an article making a plea for the country home the following may be noted. "Several narrow misconceptions have had to be or must still be removed; one is that agriculture and farmers exist in order that other people may live in comfort in cities and towns." There is no doubt that such an assumption lingers in many minds. Ideas are suggestive, and there is a very practical suggestion about ideas of this sort. For example, such ideas suggest to many of the brightest and best country youths that the farm is no place for them. "From the country," is considered in some quarters as prima facie evidence of boorishness and ultra conservatism. There is a natural reticence about those bred in the country which lends itself too easily to suggestions of class inferiority.

The vital spot in the country is the home. If the boys and girls who are born there are to remain loyal to it the home must be made aware of the enticements that lurk about and be forearmed against them. The springs of life are there, and they must be kept free from invidious suggestions about the preponderating advantages of city or town life. The country home is one of the most valuable assets a nation has. The next generation of leaders will come from there. The rural "heads" should see that teachers, preachers and papers touching the homes believe thoroughly in them, and will remain loyal to them at all times. The home should on its side be alert to the best interests of life.

SUBJECT TO RECALL

It has been given out by U.F.A. leaders that thirteen out of thirty-eight of the members elected by the U.F.A. at the recent provincial elections have placed signed recall agreements with their constituents to be used in case the members do not perform as U.F.A. members should. It is pointed out by Premier Greenfield that although certain members have signed recall agreements, no one has the whip hand over them, with power to recall them at will.

THE CROW

The crow is worth watching. He is often 20 or 30 years old, and knows the neighborhood well. So the saying "Wise old crow," has a meaning, and it means he is tactful, resourceful, and changes his ways to suit circumstances. In the corn belt, he is adept at following the row "very early in the morning."

When he comes north beyond the corn, he is just as adept at finding birds' nests, fledglings, and chickens very early in the morning; and after breakfast he is quite sedate and well-behaved—even feeding on outworn and grasshoppers. If we all got up as early as the crow and were just as alert, he would respect our rights at all times. He just requires watching, and to be kept in his place.

TRAVEL FAR AND CHEAP

Five thousand miles in thirty-three days is the touring record set by three high school boys who arrived in Los Angeles yesterday from Dayton, O., sans transportation costs. Automobile, tramping was the means of transportation of the three, C. R. Wolf, Eric Poling and Ralph Curtis. Almost their entire route was covered by chance rides given them by passing motorists. They were fortunate enough to come upon one kindly disposed tourist who carried them all the way from St. Louis to San Francisco. The boys are entering college in the East this year and plan to make their return at once by the same method.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS IMPROVE

Mr. B. P. Whedon, who is associated with W. D. Young & Co. of Bay City, Michigan, manufacturers of Michigan hardwoods, making a specialty of maple and beech flooring, one of the largest firms on the continent, speaking of general business conditions in the States, says that while the lumber situation during the past month approached normal yet this fact does not indicate that all difficulties of the readjustment period have been surmounted. Business on the whole is dull, with here and there occasional instances of brisk activity. The belief is becoming conviction in the States that the fall will undoubtedly witness an improvement in business. When the cost of labor is reduced and railway rates are cut to a more reasonable basis conditions generally will improve.

Farmers of Cowichan Valley have asked Hon. S. E. Tolmie, minister of agriculture, to drop party lines and run as a Farmer-Progressive candidate.

It is stated the government will contest almost all Alberta seats even though the prospects are not bright.
